

Since 2008, the Association of Information Security Professionals (AISP) is an independent cybersecurity association that believes in developing, supporting and enhancing industry technical competence and management expertise to promote the integrity, status and interests of Information Security professionals in Singapore.

We believe that in promoting the development, increasing and spreading of cybersecurity knowledge, and any related subject, we help shape more resilient economies.

Our team of passionate volunteers are involved in initiatives and programmes to build and nurture the cybersecurity ecosystem through membership, events, collaboration and knowledge development.
