

Randy Bassi

Having been a Director of SABABC for the last two years, I am interested in retaining my position as a Director. We have made significant progress in gaining new members and sponsors, which we will hopefully be able to continue to build upon and leverage into continued momentum into in person events. On a broader scale, I enjoy working with individuals within the South Asian community, particularly students in a mentoring capacity. As part of the Student Committee for Cassels Brock & Blackwell LLP, I expressed my desire for our firm to begin recruiting at Thompson Rivers University (a law school with a large South Asian student cohort), which our firm is now doing. Accordingly, in retaining my role as a Director with SABABC, I would like to continue contributing to existing diversity initiatives as well as building new initiatives with other members of the Board.
