Why a App?

- The more functions you want and need in your co-parenting app, the more expensive the app will be. That having been said, even the most expensive co-parenting app will cost you substantially less per year than a single one hour consultation with an attorney.
- If staying out of court and having effective communication with your co-parent is your goal, using any of these co-parenting apps will be better than trying to manage your co-parenting relationship the old-fashioned way.
- Goal is to help co-parents avoid disputes. But when disputes are unavoidable, it provides parents with an accurate and unalterable record of past conversations.
- The judge/ magistrate in your case orders you and your ex to use a specific parenting app. (Judges like parents to use co-parenting apps because they've seen how much these apps can help reduce co-parenting problems – especially in high conflict cases!)
- Minimize opportunities for conflict
- Neutral communication platform.
- Gateway for parents to submit maintenance obligation to the CPB Credit Bureau - free
