Hello Everyone,

I am tadao uematsu, the founder of EO Okinawa. EO Okinawa is a new chapter, established only 2 years ago. All members are new except for me. It is a great honor for us to welcome you all to Okinawa with DISCOVER Okinawa. Okinawa, the only subtropical island in Japan, is home to nine World Heritage Sites, the Kerama Islands (a national park), and other wonderful islands surrounded by the Kerama blue ocean and coral reefs. Okinawa is also the birthplace of karate, and we will be holding many events under the theme of "spirit of BUDO". Of course, everyone will have a chance to experience it. All participants will also challenge the Guinness World Records. We will have delicious food, drinks, and a unique beach party at Peach Resort! All the members of EO Okinawa look forward to seeing you all on the island.

Tadao Uematsu

ABF Okinawa Champion & EO Okinawa Founder

Good Day,

With a population of 1.4 million, Okinawa is one of the world's leading resort destinations, attracting more than 10 million tourists a year, surpassing Hawaii. Japan is the longest existing nation in the world, lasting 2,700 years. Okinawa was an independent country, the Ryukyu Dynasty, with a history of about 450 years. The Ryukyu Dynasty had a wonderful history of both financial and spiritual wealth of its people, with the language called "Bankoku Shinryo", remaining and a thriving trade with China and Japan.

It also has a sad history of being involved in Japan's ground war during World War II, in which many civilians died. After the defeat, it was under the control of the U.S. military for about 30 years, and now it has been 50 years since the reversion of the Ryukyu Islands to Japan. After having experienced so much, Ryukyu people's pride, incorporation into Japan, ground war, and U.S. military rule, Okinawa is now showing extraordinary growth in Japan. The Okinawan way of life, centered not on attachment to material wealth but on human compassion. Its lifestyle turns Okinawa into the place where people is always helping each other. Because of its hospitality and cooperation with each other, Okinawa attracts attention from all over the world. We hope that you will experience the richness of the land and the richness of the heart in Okinawa, where ABF-DO will be held this time.

Kazunari Miki

ABF Okinawa Producer & EO Okinawa President

Okinawa & Blue Zone

Okinawa is one of the five Blue Zones in the world, which are areas where people live exceptionally long lives. The average life expectancy in Okinawa is 81.25 years, which is 10 years higher than the global average. There are a number of factors that contribute to Okinawa's longevity, including a healthy diet, a strong social network, and a sense of purpose in life. The traditional Okinawan diet is rich in fruits, vegetables, and whole grains, and low in processed foods and sugar. Okinawans also have a strong social network and a sense of community, which helps to reduce stress and promote well-being.

The concept of ikigai has been gaining popularity in recent years as people seek to live longer, healthier lives. Ikigai is a Japanese word that means "reason for being" or "purpose in life." It is believed that by finding your ikigai, you can live a more fulfilling and meaningful life, which can lead to greater longevity.

In this Learning, we will be joined by Hector, Dr. Suzuki, and Mr. Junichi to discuss ikigai, longevity, and healthspan. Hector is a life coach who helps people find their ikigai. Dr. Suzuki is a researcher who studies the relationship between ikigai and longevity. And Mr. Junichi is a 90-year-old man who has been living his ikigai for many years.

A deep dive into IKIGAI, longevity and healthspan as we engage Hector, Dr Suzuki and Mr Junichi. We begin with an update on the latest trends and findings around IKIGAI.

Have the IKIGAI values/virtues grown, how have communities adapted them and what do the likes of Mr Junichi think about IKIGAI.

Planning for healthspan and longevity, was Mr Junichi expecting to do tri-athlons at 90? How do Intention and Purpose play a role in determining longevity?

Finally we find out the personal ambitions of the panel to understand where they are headed, how they plan/prepare and adapt their surroundings and circumstances.

Agu pork, Japan's answer to Wagyu beef, is known for its sweet tenderness. It hails from Okinawa, where it's sourced from black-haired pigs with a history dating back 600 years. Though once obscure beyond Okinawa, it's now a sought-after delicacy in high-end Japanese restaurants. Agu pork shines in dishes like shabu-shabu, melting in your mouth and infusing the broth with rich flavor. Yakiniku grilling caramelizes its surface while preserving its tenderness. Besides its taste, it's low in cholesterol and high in collagen, offering health benefits. While pure-blooded Aguu pigs are rare due to crossbreeding, Agu pork remains a prized ingredient in Japanese cuisine.

Nestled near the bustling "Mutsumibashi" intersection is a delightful Okinawa soba shop run by a welcoming elderly couple. We savored the "三枚肉そば" (three-layered pork soba) and "ソーキそば" (pork rib soba), bursting with flavor. Don't forget to try the "pipaatsu spice" (ground long pepper) on the table for a zesty twist – a local favorite.

This spot provides an escape from Kokusai-dori's hustle. The soba is mildly seasoned, complementing the rich meat and pork bone-based soup perfectly. While portions may seem small, the thick, chewy noodles hit the spot. And if you're still hungry, an extra serving is only 100 yen!

I also sampled Okinawan "koregusu" seasoning – it's tangy and spicy, but go easy on it. Despite its affordability, this place offers an authentic and cherished local experience!
