

Senior and Mid-level Web Developer

Job Description: The developer will be responsible for completing major portions of larger data-driven web applications within a 1-3 person development team as well as working independently on smaller applications. The ability to develop software into polished, integrated applications is a must. Database interaction and SQL skills will be utilized throughout development. ACI builds hundreds of business, technical and consumer web applications, as well mobile apps. Our developers are never bored!

Education: BA/BS degree in Computer Science or Information Systems related field. Master's level education and/or 4+ years experience desirable for Senior-level position.

Required Skills: 2 or more years experience with enterprise level database development, preferably such as SQL Server or Oracle. Equivalent experience will also be considered. Should have 2 or more years work experience with at least 3 of the following technologies: C# ASP.Net, Python, C++, Java, Android, iOS/Swift. Must be very familiar with HTML. Work in the agile project management methodology/SCRUM. Excellent writing and oral communication skills. US Citizenship and clean background is required since about half of our work is for the Federal government.

Desired Skills: Professional certification in appropriate technologies, military experience a plus but not required.

Work Location: in our Blacksburg office near Va Tech in a very professional Corporate Research Center. This is in the Blue Ridge Mountains, about 30 minutes south of Roanoke on I-81, 5 hours from DC. Very close to the Virginia Tech Hokies and Radford University in a college-town with 3 small localities but a tremendous amount of high-tech opportunities.

Hours: Full Time, flexible schedule: 40 Hours per week. We're serious about our free time and rarely go over 40 hours in a week!

Compensation: Depends on experience. Our cost of living is half that of Washington DC, plus we include the very best company paid health plan, 401K with company matching and immediate vesting, and company-paid high-speed Internet to your home.
