Term of Reference Healthcare Mission | August 10 – 11, 2022

Background

Looking at the continuous improvements in Indonesia's Covid-19 situation, the pandemic is already effectively being treated as chronic and endemic. As we reflect on our experiences during the height of the pandemic, however, it is clear that Covid-19 put enormous strain on Indonesia's health care system and preparedness. With the government promising concrete healthcare deliverables in the upcoming G20 summit and the Ministry of Health's ambitious primary care reform, the country is pushing for vast improvements in the sector. However, this cannot be done alone.

Recognizing the importance of multi-stakeholder collaboration, the American Chamber of Commerce in Indonesia and the US Chamber of Commerce will be hosting a hybrid 2022 Healthcare Mission August 10-11 in Jakarta. This will serve as a platform to bring together prominent healthcare providers, industry players and the government to discuss ways in which we can overcome challenges, find solutions and gain insight on investment opportunities in health.

Objectives

This year's Healthcare Mission is focused on engagements with prominent healthcare stakeholders, providing a platform for participants to engage and discuss how the private sector can help the government reaching their healthcare priorities, as well as discuss potential challenges and solutions.

Identified Priority Areas for Mission

The Healthcare Mission will focus on topics and issues, such as:

- Building a patient-centric ecosystem by prioritizing patient access to innovative products and treatments
  - Creating a sound research and development (R&D) ecosystem by protecting intellectual property (IP) rights
  - Facilitating voluntary technology transfer and accelerating licensing for innovative products/treatments
  - The use of local content regulations on pharmaceuticals and medical devices (TKDN)
  - The procurement system for the e-catalog
  - Halal policies
  - Promoting public health through proper food labeling
- Digital transformation of health
  - Digitizing public procurement
  - Developing integrated and secured healthcare data while upholding patient data privacy
  - Potential collaboration with the private sector
